TOBACCO STOCKS AGAIN FEATUR

G. W. Helme Company Leads U ward Movement with Twenty Points Net Gain.

By BARRON SERVICE.

New York, June 8 .- Tobacco stoc were again the feature of the stock market to-day with the George W. Helme Company leading the upward Helme Company leading the upward movement with nearly 20 points net gain. American Tobacco common nearly went to the 300 predicted a week ago, while P. Lorillard, Liggett & Myers, and American Souff shares advanced from 4 to 8 points from Friday's closing figures. Canadian Pacific, the weakest of the larger issues on the previous day, was several points higher at the close, due to a more favorable sentiment in Berlin where large blocks of the stock are held. American Linseed stock was very strong on rumors that the was very strong on rumors that the company would engage in the manu-facture of paint which was later de-nied by President Adams, who pointed out that paint manufacturers are now the largest customers of his American Beet Sugar and American Sugar Refining leaves were materially helped to advances by glowing predictions of large fruit crops, which will result in a good demand for sugar for canning and preserving. There was also a rumor of a substantial stock dividend the near future for American Sugar Refining shareholders.

Dividend Causes No Advance.

The announcement of a 5 per cent dividend on R. J. Reynolds Tebacco Compuny stock did not result in any material

The larger issues, such as Steel, com-The larger issues, such as Steel common: Reading. Union Pacific, and Lehigh Valley, were a little weak on light transactions, caused by the evening up of traders' accounts, and the undertone of the market was good, with no selling pressure. A number of stocks usually netive did not open at all, while in other major issues, trading was the lightest in weeks. Chicago and Northwestern and Missouri Pacific were the only railroads showing signs of weakness, alroads showing signs of weakness, al-though many other roads are approach-ing the time for publication of their annual reports, which will as a whole be

Since the first of June there has been unmistakable evidence that large inter-ests are acquiring stocks, even though a slight reaction in the market is looked for between the present and the time the national conventions at Chicago and Baltimore. In former murket move-ments, prices responded with material advances whenever the large interests were accumulating stocks, but in most recent movements of this kind, prices have remained stationary during the aborption of the floating supply of stocks. Those that are buck of the buying have learned that they can keep prices as low as possible until the floating supply is very small, when they can no longer restrain an opward movement.

"We discovered a great many things that I had never known before," said Mr. Hayes, "Of course, every one has known that there was an immense money power, and that that power must be lodged somewhere. The purpose of the contest. The earlier starters have no prevent this great power from being abused."

Representative E. A. Hayes of California, a Republican member of the House night by the Booklovers' Editor, as a result of inquiries as to the exact time of the close of the contest. Several persons wished to enter the competition now at any other time before, 6 o'clock, July 2.

Those who join now are just as eligible to win prizes as those who began to solve the pussies at the very start of the contest. The earlier starters have no advantage over those who begin now. The competition for the valuable prizes offered in the contest has become steadily keener as the day for the publicant of the last picture approaches.

Representative Hayes will probably return to New York to-night to rejoin other members of the committee.
